The company also abides by any state and local leave laws. The more generous of the laws will apply to the employee if the employee is eligible under both federal and state laws.
 - a. Please note there are many requirements, qualifications, and exceptions under these laws, and each employee's situation is different. Contact Human Resources to discuss options for leave.
2. The FMLA requires private employers with 50 or more employees and all public agencies, including state, local, and federal employers, and local education agencies (schools) to provide eligible employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave in any 12-month period for certain family and medical reasons.
 - a. The 12-month period is a rolling period measured backward from the date an employee uses any FMLA leave, except for leaves to care for a covered servicemember with a serious illness or injury. For those leaves, the leave entitlement is 26 weeks in a single 12-month period measured forward from the date an employee first takes that type of leave.
3. Basic leave entitlement. The FMLA requires covered employers to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave to eligible employees for the following reasons:
 - a. For incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal medical care, or childbirth
 - b. To care for the employee's child after birth or placement for adoption or foster care
 - c. To care for the employee's spouse, child, or parent who has a serious health condition

- b. The FMLA also includes a special leave entitlement that permits eligible employees to take up to 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered servicemember during a single 12-month period.
 - i. A covered servicemember is a current member of the armed forces, including a member of the National Guard or reserves, who has a serious injury or illness incurred in the line of duty on active duty that may render the servicemember medically unfit to perform the duties of the servicemember's office, grade, rank, or rating and for which the servicemember is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy; is in outpatient status; or is on the temporary disability retired list.
- 5. Benefits and protections during FMLA leave.
 - a. During FMLA leave, the company will maintain the employee's health coverage under any "group health plan" on the same terms as if the employee had continued to work.
 - b. Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees will be restored to their original or equivalent positions with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms.
 - i. However, an employee on FMLA leave does not have any greater right to reinstatement or to other benefits and conditions of employment than if the employee had been continuously employed during the FMLA leave period.
 - c. Certain highly compensated key employees also may be denied reinstatement when necessary to prevent "substantial and grievous economic injury" to the company's operations.
 - i. A "key" employee is an eligible salaried employee who is among the highest-paid 10 percent of the company's employees within 75 miles of the worksite.
 - ii. Employees will be notified of their status as key employees, when applicable, after they request FMLA leave.

 - a. Have worked for the company for at least 12 months
 - b. Have worked for the company for at least 1,250 hours in the previous 12 months
 - c. Work at or report to a worksite that has 50 or more employees or is within 75 miles of company worksites that, taken together, have a total of 50 or more employees.
- 7. Definition of "serious health condition."
 - a. A serious health condition is an illness, an injury, an impairment, or a physical or mental condition that involves either an overnight stay in a medical care facility or continuing treatment by a healthcare provider for a condition that either prevents the employee from performing the functions of the employee's job or prevents the qualified family member from participating in school, work, or other daily activities.
 - b. Subject to certain conditions, the continuing treatment requirement may be met by a period of incapacity of more than 3 consecutive calendar days combined with at least 2 visits to a healthcare provider or 1 visit and a regimen of continuing treatment, incapacity due to pregnancy, or incapacity due to a chronic condition.
 - i. Other conditions may meet the definition of "continuing treatment."
- 8. Use of leave.
 - a. An employee does not need to use this leave entitlement in one block.
 - b. Leave can be taken intermittently or on a reduced work schedule when medically necessary.

- c. Employees must make reasonable efforts to schedule leave for planned medical treatment so as not to unduly disrupt the employer's operations.
- d. Leave due to qualifying exigencies also may be taken on an intermittent or a reduced work schedule basis.

9. Substitution of paid leave for unpaid leave.

- a. Employees may choose or employers may require the use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave.
- b. Accordingly, the company requires employees to use any accrued paid vacation, personal, and sick days during an unpaid FMLA leave taken because of the employees' own serious health condition or the serious health condition of a family member or to care for a seriously ill or injured family member in the military.
- c. In addition, employees must use any accrued paid vacation or personal days (but not sick days) during FMLA leave taken to care for a newborn or newly placed child or for a qualifying exigency arising out of a family member's active duty or call to active duty status in support of a contingency operation.

- i. Team members who are taking prescription drugs shall report this to management. This is for the protection of the team member and for safety purposes in case the medication interferes with safe driving, the team member has an adverse reaction to the drug while at work, or so the team member is not falsely accused of taking an illegal substance.
- j. When a team member is involved in the use, possession, transfer, or sale of a substance in violation of this policy, the Company may notify appropriate authorities. Better Life Maids is aware that substance abuse is a complex health problem that has both physical impact and an emotional impact on the team member, his or her family, and social relationships.
- k. A substance abuser is a person who uses substances, as defined above, for non-medical reasons, and this use detrimentally affects job performance or interferes with normal social adjustments at work. Substance abuse is both a management and a medical problem.
- l. Any team member who suspects a substance abuse case should discuss the situation immediately with management.

 - b. As long as the information is not needed for police or security purposes, the Company shall maintain team member medical and personal information in confidence and release this information to authorized Company personnel on a "need to know" basis.
 - c. An exception to this policy is when the team member signs a release for the transfer of such information on forms acceptable to the Company to designated persons or agencies.
8. Searches
- a. To ensure that illegal drugs, alcohol and weapons do not enter or affect the workplace, the Company reserves the right to search all vehicles, containers, desks, work spaces, or other items on Company property in furtherance of this policy.
